“Love isn’t something you find. Love is something that finds you”.

COUP DE FOUDRE - “No one believes in love at first sight until that special person comes along and steals your heart”. Same happened with Hiteshi and Piyush, #HITYUSH. Isn’t it kind of amazing how Hiteshi who was once a stranger, can suddenly, without warning, mean the entire world to Piyush.

Since they’d never met before, they’re sure that there’d been nothing between them. But what’s the word from the streets, staircases, hallways-perhaps they’ve passed each other by a million times? Both convinced that sudden passion joined them. Such certainty is beautiful but uncertainty is more beautiful still.

After some stage of love everyone like to call their partners in their own style. There is a cuteness in calling each other with cute cute nicknames, no one will understand the feeling behind those nick names that we call each other by!

Piyush calls her a HAMSTER, Hiteshi calls him a PANDA because he can sleep “All day” anytime, anywhere. If he isn’t sleeping, he will be yawning at the rate of 5 yawns per minute. The rate of his yawning is directly proportional to her excitement level when she is telling him something important.

27th October 2021 - Hiteshi got the most adorable little creature to ever exist for her last year birthday as a gift from Piyush and they named it “GINGER”
